

CET4_Preview Answer Key CH001-CH137 · 答案与解析

CH001 · New Ground: A Signal

1. follow a rule — The administrator asked everyone to follow the printed instructions.
2. reinforce an instruction — Reinforce commonly means strengthen an idea, rule, or structure.
3. adaptive — An adaptive design changes in response to new information.
4. summarize — Summarize means express the main points briefly.
5. inspire — Inspire confidence is a common collocation.

CH002 · New Ground: The First Promise

1. a map that does not depend on permission — Lin promised that their project would not depend on anyone else's permission.
2. anticipation — Maya said she did not believe in anticipation, only in notes, numbers, and witnesses.
3. reinforce the case — Reinforce commonly strengthens an argument, a structure, or a habit.
4. steadily — Progress advanced without sudden changes after the evidence was shown.
5. only what a student can see — The rule limited reports to first-hand observation.

CH003 · New Ground: A Missing Voice

1. the notes ignored who could not reach the doors — The worker said the notes recorded where doors were, not who could not reach them.
2. modesty — They listed what they did not know, which is an act of modesty.
3. a suitable ramp — Suitable describes something that fits a need, such as a ramp at a gate.
4. picturesque — The path looked attractive in photographs but failed in rain.
5. turned it outwards for the corridor — She wanted everyone passing the corridor to read the corrected map.

CH004 · New Ground: Evidence on the Table

1. what it leaves out — He judged a survey by its silences, not only by its numbers.
2. merit — The merit of the argument rested on whether the ramp existed.
3. familiarize themselves with the site — Familiarize with is used for getting to know a place or a system.
4. costly — The missing ramp was the expensive detail the plan ignored.
5. the shortcoming of the old design — She pinned the weakness of the old plan where everyone could see it.

CH005 · New Ground: The Trial Run

1. to adapt it hourly and describe it honestly — The small test let them change the method quickly and report it plainly.
2. feasibility — They had to judge whether a permanent sign could actually be built.
3. a heartfelt apology — Heartfelt describes sincere feeling, which fits an apology.
4. distinguishable — The copied map looked almost identical to the genuine one.
5. cherish a document that would pollute the record — She rejected the false map rather than keeping it as evidence.

CH006 · New Ground: Pressure Builds

1. more work than the group could sustain — The union attached a heavier workload to its offer.
2. discourage — Maya said she was sad but not discouraged, meaning her will to continue survived.
3. exploit goodwill — Exploit is used with abstract resources such as goodwill or trust.
4. disapproval — He did not approve of their haste, though he expressed it mildly.
5. the consent form — They decided the one-sentence consent form was the only asset they truly owned.

CH007 · New Ground: The Disagreement

1. who owned the story — The conflict was about ownership, not about the group's ability.
2. cultivation — Cultivation appeared beside nutrition in the poster about growth.
3. develop the map — Develop naturally combines with a product, plan, or map.

4. rise — A rise in enrolment changed who studied at the university.
5. the cost of the map — They decided to publish the real cost alongside the map.

CH008 · New Ground: What the Numbers Hide

1. describe a commuter's experience — Numbers cannot carry what a person feels while waiting.
2. attributable — The accident could be attributed to a broken lift rather than to temper.
3. enrich the sample — Enrich is used when adding depth or quality to data or soil.
4. attributable — Attributable means able to be explained by a particular cause.
5. the list — He asked for the list after admitting the project had achieved something.

CH009 · New Ground: A Better Question

1. one line about the question at each gate — They replaced full coverage with a better question at every gate.
2. restraint — Restraint, not enthusiasm, would keep the project alive.
3. adjust the shape — Adjust combines naturally with shape, plan, or setting.
4. independent — The group had no income of its own.
5. until the summer — A voluntary team would keep the notes public until the summer.

CH010 · New Ground: The Second Attempt

1. Lin had to walk the route without seeing it — The joke became a real test: Lin walked the route as a stranger would.
2. gradually — The sentences became shorter little by little.
3. cultivate trust — Cultivate is used with trust, patience, or a habit.
4. conquer — After the reunification they could handle one gate in one pass.
5. that they had stopped lying about the city — Maya said they had not overcome the city, only stopped lying about it.

CH011 · New Ground: Outside Pressure

1. a working bypass for every closed gate — The council offered the room only for a complete, testable route.
2. necessitate — The failure of the first plan made a new method necessary.
3. sharpen the wording — Sharpen is used with wording, a design, or a skill.
4. deceive — She warned them not to fool themselves about the cause of the problem.
5. because a positive attitude does not fix a locked door — She stayed because the practical failure remained.

CH012 · New Ground: The Decision

1. multiple small trials, one per gate — The least dramatic path tested each gate separately.
2. arbitrary — A rule chosen without evidence is arbitrary.
3. a single arbitrary rule — Arbitrary describes a rule imposed without reason.
4. respective — Each result was published beside its own gate.
5. something small and honest — She summarised the project as small, honest work.

CH013 · New Ground: Consequences

1. a printed copy that cannot be edited freely — The office turned the map into a document that needed approval for every edit.
2. uncertain — The funding was uncertain, which put the map at risk.
3. preserve the map — Preserve combines naturally with a document, a place, or a habit.
4. sheep — His uncle used the image of protecting crops from sheep.
5. a broken sign frame — The frame was crushed by a fallen tree stem and the paint had peeled.

CH014 · New Ground: The Bridge Forward

1. a printed page, a phone page, and a person at the gate — The map became three modest tools by the end of the first arc.
2. respectively — The university and the union mentioned it once and twice, in that order.

3. nourish the people in a plan — Nourish is used for people, soil, or a living plan.
4. namely — Namely introduces the specific item being named.
5. that a bridge is not a victory and is still a bridge — She copied the sentence about a bridge into her notebook.

CH015 · Learning How to Learn: A Signal

1. that the map taught someone something — She demanded evidence of learning, not of effort.
2. vocational — A vocational trainer prepares people for a trade.
3. prevent the same mistake twice — Prevent combines naturally with a mistake, an error, or harm.
4. diploma — The instructor compared a diploma to a receipt.
5. an old typewriter — He mailed a typewriter with a note about leisure reading.

CH016 · Learning How to Learn: The First Promise

1. every claim would have a method behind it — The promise tied each claim to a method.
2. specimen — A specimen is a sample kept for study, here of bad analysis.
3. an analytic mind — Analytic describes a mind that breaks a question into parts.
4. literacy — She separated improved writing from improved reading ability.
5. a choice — Lin wrote that every textbook hides a choice the reader should see.

CH017 · Learning How to Learn: A Missing Voice

1. how to read a person — She contrasted reading a page with reading a person.
2. revelation — Her remark was a revelation that spread through the hall.
3. the foundation of a good question — Foundation combines naturally with a question, a course, or a building.
4. education — She separated a skill from an education.
5. it doubled — Borrowing from the reading room doubled during the staff week.

CH018 · Learning How to Learn: Evidence on the Table

1. a problem rather than a story — She wanted accuracy, not a pleasant narrative.
2. delicate — The evidence needed careful handling, which delicate describes.
3. observe the evidence — Observe combines naturally with evidence, behaviour, or a rule.
4. discriminate — She refused to treat students differently according to whether they asked.
5. the triumphant part of the offer — They accepted the chance to present but rejected the triumph.

CH019 · Learning How to Learn: The Trial Run

1. the map did not work for someone who could not read — The trial exposed a reader the group had never considered.
2. accessible — Accessible means easy to reach or use, which the new version aimed to be.
3. diversify the examples — Diversify combines with examples, sources, or a portfolio.
4. later — The librarian valued the hand-copied manuscript above later efficiency.
5. something infectious — She said curiosity spreads from person to person.

CH020 · Learning How to Learn: Pressure Builds

1. used a quotation to support a conclusion they never drew — Their sentence was quoted out of context in the annual report.
2. ignorance — The outside world's ignorance of the difficulty let the correction proceed.
3. identify the error — Identify combines with an error, a cause, or a pattern.
4. manipulate — She refused to turn a quotation into something it did not mean.
5. also information — He argued that publishing a correction informs readers rather than embarrassing the team.

CH021 · Learning How to Learn: The Disagreement

1. a single bakery case — She insisted that one example cannot carry a general conclusion.
2. desirable — The compromise was framed around what seemed desirable rather than what was measurable.

3. investigate the problem — Investigate combines naturally with a problem, a cause, or a claim.
4. widespread — The heating failure affected the whole campus.
5. the commencement of a method — She valued the start of a method above a single finding.

CH022 · Learning How to Learn: What the Numbers Hide

1. comprehension — Counting arrivals says nothing about understanding.
2. retention — They separated what is retained from what is recognised.
3. penetrate a vague sentence — Penetrate means to see through something difficult.
4. certificate — They argued that memory is a living presence, not a document.
5. a seven-line test — The group wrote a short test of its own.

CH023 · Learning How to Learn: A Better Question

1. a hole — The reviewer saw an unanswered question, not a polite gap.
2. initiative — She took the initiative and cut the first page.
3. concentrate on the data — Concentrate combines with data, a task, or a problem.
4. receptive — He preferred an open mind to a combative one.
5. every number carries a name — The new opening line tied each figure to a person.

CH024 · Learning How to Learn: The Second Attempt

1. read me twice — The mug carried the group's rule for careful reading.
2. dual — The method had two pages with two purposes.
3. cite the page — Cite combines with a page, a source, or an author.
4. mistake — Volume of facts does not guarantee accuracy.
5. a sentence that survives being read aloud — She set a test of readability.

CH025 · Learning How to Learn: Outside Pressure

1. a decorative curtain — The inspector judged the claims ornamental rather than false.
2. hindrance — She said the obstacle had never been the method itself.
3. elevate the language — Elevate combines with language, a tone, or a standard.
4. wide — He chose a narrow, honest claim over a broad one.
5. it is not easy, but it is really ours — Two students in the corridor supplied the report's opening line.

CH026 · Learning How to Learn: The Decision

1. the method, not the results — They sent the procedure and let the survey produce its own numbers.
2. frank — The principal spoke frankly about the noise in the data.
3. discuss the wording — Discuss combines with wording, a plan, or a problem.
4. disaster — A negative result would confirm the method rather than destroy it.
5. a steel beam under a wooden floor — He described continuation as reinforcement, not rejection.

CH027 · Learning How to Learn: Consequences

1. a headmaster, a therapist, and a poet — The report named beneficiaries who had never been consulted.
2. acknowledgement — The first acknowledgement came with bread and jam.
3. cater to readers — Cater to means to serve a particular group's tastes.
4. orange — She used the fruit comparison against false equivalence.
5. what they did not know — He wanted the unknown to lead the report rather than hide inside it.

CH028 · Learning How to Learn: The Bridge Forward

1. where the idea came from — The examiner probed the origin of the method.
2. fluency — The project claimed reading fluency, which Lin qualified.
3. weigh the evidence — Weigh combines naturally with evidence or a decision.
4. boast — She warned against claiming more than the evidence supported.

5. saying so — He treated honesty as a reason to state limits openly.

CH029 · Promises and Pressure: A Signal

1. that he eats — Her first concern was that he was not feeding himself.
2. negotiate — She told him to negotiate rather than play the hero.
3. a thorough piece of work — Thorough describes work done completely.
4. cat — She compared a daughter to a wild animal, not a pet.
5. turn up, particularly on the bad days — Presence, not plans, was what his family asked of him.

CH030 · Promises and Pressure: The First Promise

1. a hospital visit and a project meeting at the same hour — Family duty and the project demanded the same Sunday.
2. isolation — He feared being superficially connected to everyone and close to no one.
3. keep a promise — Keep combines naturally with a promise or a word.
4. portion — She described attention as something divided into portions.
5. three roles — The renegotiation was written on the back of a photograph.

CH031 · Promises and Pressure: A Missing Voice

1. a qualification is a permission, not a person — She refused to let credentials stand in for experience.
2. thoughtful — The group recorded her small, considerate details.
3. communicate grief — Communicate combines with grief, a finding, or a feeling.
4. bore — He judged dullness harsher than failure.
5. the survey asked what people tend at home — Her intervention changed the survey's opening question.

CH032 · Promises and Pressure: Evidence on the Table

1. whether a person can find what they came for in a minute — The group replaced a dozen indicators with one usable test.
2. reliable — One household had a dependable piano teacher.
3. confirm a finding — Confirm combines with a finding, a date, or a suspicion.
4. dialog — She described communication as an exchange between two people.
5. put it on the wall anyway — She valued the photograph even though it proved nothing.

CH033 · Promises and Pressure: The Trial Run

1. write the cost of love in a file and then work a shift — She demanded that the interviewers experience the work.
2. inheritance — The interview turned to what parents can and cannot pass on.
3. represent the council — Represent combines with a body, a group, or an interest.
4. stock — She refused to treat a child as property or inventory.
5. whether the writer can imagine their life — The trial's finding was about the writer, not only the reader.

CH034 · Promises and Pressure: Pressure Builds

1. his grandmother was in hospital — Family duty and the meeting fell in the same week.
2. trustee — She described herself as a trustee of other people's time.
3. keep a promise — Keep combines naturally with a promise or a word.
4. substitute — She refused to let a plan stand in for a person.
5. a hope — A promise resting on one person is only a hope.

CH035 · Promises and Pressure: The Disagreement

1. he heard her but did not listen — She distinguished hearing from listening.
2. deliberate — He wanted a deliberate and slow project.
3. inspect the work — Inspect combines with work, a site, or a document.
4. figurative — A promise that exists only in metaphor costs nothing.

5. lose the work — He promised not to let the shared project go.

CH036 · Promises and Pressure: What the Numbers Hide

1. why the same failure looks different in every home — The same problem has a different shape in each household.
2. estimation — Each person estimated the same wait differently.
3. wrap a blanket around a child — Wrap combines with a blanket, a parcel, or a wound.
4. care — She called care the only constant in the data.
5. the people who used the service — Users, debtors, and prisoners had never been interviewed.

CH037 · Promises and Pressure: A Better Question

1. it had one line for two mothers — The old form could not hold two kinds of motherhood.
2. indifferent — The cat was untouched by the argument.
3. decide what counts — Decide combines with what counts, a course, or a date.
4. pure — She called the fingerprint a pure fact, unrelated to kinship.
5. a horse — He distinguished the instrument from the living thing it serves.

CH038 · Promises and Pressure: The Second Attempt

1. a funeral and a birthday — Grief and celebration arrived in the same week.
2. latter — The second remark, the latter one, was the one that stayed.
3. adopt a surname — Adopt combines with a name, a habit, or a child.
4. history — She treated the family name as an inheritance.
5. a table, an honest name, and no pretence — The second attempt was smaller and more honest.

CH039 · Promises and Pressure: Outside Pressure

1. neglecting its own staff — The report counted the unpaid hours the volunteers had worked.
2. diligence — She separated diligence from obedience.
3. raise the fee — Raise combines with a fee, a price, or a question.
4. haste — He argued that rushing would undermine the evidence.
5. the same as obedience — She insisted that hard work is not the same as compliance.

CH040 · Promises and Pressure: The Decision

1. his mom — She gathered both families around one table.
2. spite — Three months of resentment were set aside with one gesture.
3. apply for the money — Apply combines with money, a post, or a rule.
4. marriage — She distinguished the contract from the relationship.
5. the little one — He chose the smaller project he could actually sustain.

CH041 · Promises and Pressure: Consequences

1. what a family is for — The final question asked about the purpose of a family.
2. descendant — The descendant of a tailor and an ancestor wrote the substitutions.
3. repair the rail — Repair combines with a rail, a roof, or a relationship.
4. delivery — The gift was well meant but badly delivered.
5. a habit they could lose — The inherited hatred persisted only as habit.

CH042 · Promises and Pressure: The Bridge Forward

1. the last setback — She wanted the failure recorded beside the success.
2. insistence — Her insistence was that the report stay honest.
3. keep the shelter open — Keep combines with a shelter, a promise, or a record.
4. sways — The quiet writer often moves the room.
5. not a triumph — He refused to call the year a victory.

CH043 · The First Real Deadline: A Signal

1. their new technological platform — The client commissioned a film about its platform.
2. supervise — The client would supervise the script rather than the university.
3. manage a budget — Manage combines with a budget, a team, or a risk.
4. profitable — She valued accuracy above profit.
5. invisible — Most of the work was invisible to the customer.

CH044 · The First Real Deadline: The First Promise

1. every claim would have an account behind it — Each statement needed a documented basis.
2. intangible — The right to refuse was real but invisible.
3. remove the word — Remove combines with a word, a label, or an obstacle.
4. employer — The manager showed them what an employer does under financial pressure.
5. the word work — He replaced the idea of a career with the fact of work.

CH045 · The First Real Deadline: A Missing Voice

1. to see the text — She asked to check the text before publication.
2. payroll — The payroll line dropped while the arrows pointed up.
3. deliver a story — Deliver combines with a story, a parcel, or a promise.
4. opportunity — She distinguished the means from the chance to use them.
5. they used it with her name — Her paragraph replaced theirs and she was named.

CH046 · The First Real Deadline: Evidence on the Table

1. in a shop converted into an office — The meeting reused an old shop counter and sign.
2. outstanding — The corporation had an unsettled tax case.
3. establish what we owe — Establish combines with an obligation, a fact, or a rule.
4. attention — The customer pays in money and in attention.
5. the exhibition — He argued that showing the work honestly is the only honest advertising.

CH047 · The First Real Deadline: The Trial Run

1. to roll out a recent proposal for a week — The trial tested one proposal under real use.
2. forgery — A forged page in the appendix almost ruined the report.
3. cooperate with the office — Cooperate combines with a body, a partner, or a team.
4. strategies — The coordinator combined two approaches into one trial.
5. a forgery in the appendix — The forged page put the whole document at risk.

CH048 · The First Real Deadline: Pressure Builds

1. the delay — The industrial client added a charge when the work slipped.
2. margin — The accountant described the narrow room for error.
3. gain credit — Gain combines with credit, time, or experience.
4. web — She used a gardener's image against wasted effort.
5. by cutting a correspondent from the schedule — They removed a role to recover two days.

CH049 · The First Real Deadline: The Disagreement

1. a signed guideline — The police required a written, signed procedure.
2. prohibitive — The cost of a recall was too high to consider.
3. hasten the inspection — Hasten combines with an inspection, a reply, or a decision.
4. failure — One good release masked the next one's failure.
5. the other guideline — The inspector wanted a rule for the worst case as well.

CH050 · The First Real Deadline: What the Numbers Hide

1. It hid missing applications — The charts looked positive because failed records had disappeared.
2. oversight — Oversight can mean supervision or an unintentional failure to notice something.

3. regulatory update — Regulatory commonly modifies rules, requirements, or changes governed by authorities.
4. discriminatory — The rule treated users differently because of their connection quality.
5. the missing records — Restoring records was part of the resumption plan.

CH051 · The First Real Deadline: A Better Question

1. a description of how the figures were used — The council wanted the method behind the numbers.
2. subsequent — The meeting that followed was short.
3. meet a deadline — Meet combines with a deadline, a standard, or a need.
4. priority — She ranked the renewal below the immediate question.
5. that a punctual team is a keen team — They had confused speed with commitment.

CH052 · The First Real Deadline: The Second Attempt

1. one investigation — The committee wanted evidence before further spending.
2. availability — The four specialists were all free that week.
3. construct a demo — Construct combines with a demo, a model, or an argument.
4. availability — Their advantage was having the right people free at the right time.
5. fiction — He refused to treat evolution as a story they could invent.

CH053 · The First Real Deadline: Outside Pressure

1. unity — He valued their ability but doubted their cohesion.
2. dignity — The moderator insisted that separation is not dignity.
3. administer a course — Administer combines with a course, a fund, or an office.
4. ant — The workshop studied small things a company can command.
5. postage — The visible output was the cost of mailing the file.

CH054 · The First Real Deadline: The Decision

1. the official from the registrar's office — The registrar's official joined by telephone.
2. expenditure — Their spending on paper exceeded the donation.
3. carry the debt — Carry combines with a debt, a cost, or a risk.
4. penalty — He refused to treat a calling as a punishment.
5. a donation, but got a homework club — The embassy's expectation was replaced by something more useful.

CH055 · The First Real Deadline: Consequences

1. a conduct report — The officer filed a report on the department's conduct.
2. oblige — The rating obliged them to redecorate before the visit.
3. submit a report — Submit combines with a report, a claim, or an application.
4. repayment — He described exhaustion being called a reward.
5. for the orient, not for the town — The department's orientation never matched the town it served.

CH056 · The First Real Deadline: The Bridge Forward

1. the opening of the year — The conference framed the year's start.
2. loophole — A clause allowed the contractor to leave early.
3. join the police at dinner — Join combines with a group, a table, or a service.
4. functional — She defended the unglamorous, working part of the system.
5. a position, a detail, and a year of work — She refused the word department.

CH057 · Across Borders: A Signal

1. that it is part of its safety — She treated tone as a safety matter, not decoration.
2. endurance — The station cat's quiet endurance impressed them.
3. steal a march — Steal a march means to gain an advantage secretly or early.
4. mushroom — He contrasted fast growth with slow habit.

5. objects — The host used everyday objects as teaching aids.

CH058 · Across Borders: The First Promise

1. through it, not around it — Aisha insisted on dealing with the office directly.
2. homeless — She said a homeless man knows the station's interior best.
3. run a parking service — Run combines with a service, a business, or a risk.
4. roof — She described the cab as shelter, not ornament.
5. a cruiser of tourists — The tourists bought every seat and broke the timetable.

CH059 · Across Borders: A Missing Voice

1. a promise that someone will come back — She defined transport as a promise, not a machine.
2. livelihood — The queue at her door was her living.
3. shut the corridor — Shut combines with a corridor, a door, or a line.
4. rooms — She compared both vessels to enclosed spaces.
5. the postcard — The postcard became evidence in the report.

CH060 · Across Borders: Evidence on the Table

1. a chain of small appointments — She described traffic as a linked sequence of commitments.
2. carrier — The delegation's carrier moved goods and people.
3. break the chain — Break combines with a chain, a promise, or a habit.
4. occupation — He refused to separate trade from occupation.
5. the person who could not ride or drive — The committee discussed but never invited the affected traveller.

CH061 · Across Borders: The Trial Run

1. April to December — The trial stretched across most of the year.
2. indispensable — The travellers' spontaneity proved essential.
3. predict a delay — Predict combines with a delay, a result, or a trend.
4. man — They insisted on examining the system rather than blaming the driver.
5. that a small change survives a large system — The council's real question remained unproven.

CH062 · Across Borders: Pressure Builds

1. to remain until the service was efficient or clearly could not be — They committed to staying until the outcome was clear.
2. worthwhile — She judged the project by whether it survived its bad decade.
3. maintain a copy — Maintain combines with a copy, a road, or a standard.
4. price — He attacked the report for avoiding a cost figure.
5. a permission with three conditions — The council finally granted a conditional permission.

CH063 · Across Borders: The Disagreement

1. a rule for ownership — They had rules for wrecks, ballots, and tyres, but none for their own work.
2. ownership — The whole argument was about who owned the result.
3. obtain a decision — Obtain combines with a decision, a licence, or consent.
4. tossed — They tossed a coin instead of holding a vote.
5. the people who used the road — The right went to the users, not the builders.

CH064 · Across Borders: What the Numbers Hide

1. the promised training — The promised training had almost never happened.
2. overwhelmingly — The severity of the cuts was overwhelming.
3. compute a figure — Compute combines with a figure, a total, or a cost.
4. repetitive — A repeated number can displace the truth.
5. one for the frosty mornings — They published a second sheet for lived experience.

CH065 · Across Borders: A Better Question

1. what a short walk to the station means in the countryside — She reframed distance as meaning, not metres.
2. reserved — The young man from the lodge said little.
3. abandon a membership list — Abandon combines with a list, a plan, or a person.
4. steer — He rejected managing a community by spreadsheet.
5. the pedestrian's sentence — Her sentence opened the rewritten report.

CH066 · Across Borders: The Second Attempt

1. the plan in the context of the war — The technician demanded a public explanation of the plan.
2. extensive — The survey was broad but blind to one leg of the journey.
3. carry the load — Carry combines with a load, a cost, or a risk.
4. subway — The survey ignored the underground leg of the commute.
5. that they do not own the road — The chair reminded them who the road belongs to.

CH067 · Across Borders: Outside Pressure

1. the little station by the fence — A national review closed the small station.
2. tonnage — The port's tonnage had started to move up and down.
3. cope with the road — Cope combines with a road, a load, or a demand.
4. vanish — He described slow erosion followed by sudden loss.
5. nothing about us without us — The resident's sentence became part of the record.

CH068 · Across Borders: The Decision

1. a road — He refused to accept a written sentence as infrastructure.
2. privilege — The debate turned on privilege derived from duty.
3. resist a convention — Resist combines with a convention, a pressure, or a change.
4. derived — She argued that privilege comes from obligation.
5. originate a service rather than inherit one — They chose to build a new service instead of taking over an old one.

CH069 · Across Borders: Consequences

1. a tourist attraction — The working railway had turned into a curiosity.
2. commuter — Commuters carried most of the daily burden.
3. pave a passage — Pave combines with a passage, a road, or a way.
4. window — He distinguished seeing a route from entering it.
5. who continues the line — The foreigner asked about continuity, not comfort.

CH070 · Across Borders: The Bridge Forward

1. at a bridge — The arc ends on a bridge rather than at a station.
2. endure — The town had begun to endure its own success.
3. draft a presentation — Draft combines with a presentation, a letter, or a plan.
4. document — She treated the journey itself as the record.
5. what really happened — He wanted the accidental history recorded honestly.

CH071 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: A Signal

1. on the last step of the sports center ladder — He collapsed where he trained every week.
2. dosage — He had been given a dose of training his body could not carry.
3. make a promise — Make combines with a promise, a plan, or a mistake.
4. persuaded — The doctor insisted that the body must be assisted, not argued with.
5. the delay — They invented metaphors to explain why the work had slipped.

CH072 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: The First Promise

1. make the site accessible or stop the run — She tied the running programme to accessibility.
2. deficiency — An ignored injury becomes a real deficiency.
3. restrict the training — Restrict combines with training, access, or a budget.
4. plan — He rejected guesswork as a substitute for planning.
5. the sticky floor of the changing room — The simplest hazard came first.

CH073 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: A Missing Voice

1. adequacy, not splendour — He wanted a usable class, not an impressive one.
2. exclusion — The campaign's real problem was who it left out.
3. donate an hour — Donate combines with time, money, or equipment.
4. teach — He rejected the idea that fitness is the only qualification.
5. the slow — He asked them to get used to a slower pace.

CH074 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: Evidence on the Table

1. a kilometre on a career — Small physical damage compounds into lost work.
2. reversible — The progression could be turned back if the habit changed.
3. break the dependence — Break combines with a dependence, a habit, or a rule.
4. precaution — She rejected exclusion dressed up as safety.
5. hospitalizing anyone — No one needed hospital care that month.

CH075 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: The Trial Run

1. a bank — He warned against borrowing rest and repaying it later.
2. fatigue — She described fatigue as a bill that arrives later.
3. prevent an injury — Prevent combines with an injury, an error, or a delay.
4. character — The doctor separated illness from moral weakness.
5. follow the foot, not the clock — The new protocol followed the body rather than the schedule.

CH076 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: Pressure Builds

1. every athlete gives two hours a week to the open class — Health became a shared requirement, not a private choice.
2. complication — She called overwork a complication of modern scheduling.
3. relieve distress — Relieve combines with distress, pain, or pressure.
4. timetable — The doctor blamed the schedule, not the person.
5. hurry a body through a century in one season — She refused to promise speed the body cannot deliver.

CH077 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: The Disagreement

1. whose body pays for the team's ambition — He put the physical cost at the centre of the dispute.
2. preventive — She defended prevention over ambition.
3. prevail over pessimism — Prevail combines with pessimism, an argument, or a difficulty.
4. hungry — He used the proverb to expose the hidden cost.
5. the uniformity of the people who wrote the plan — She blamed the sameness of the planners, not the plan.

CH078 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: What the Numbers Hide

1. a place we send people to, not take them from — She wanted the body treated as a destination, not a resource.
2. durability — Maturity was distinguished from mere durability.
3. refine the measure — Refine combines with a measure, a method, or a plan.
4. durability — He warned that surviving one season is not maturity.
5. a body is not a bank — The doctor's early sentence became the conclusion.

CH079 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: A Better Question

1. it walked — She contrasted walking with purpose-built exercise.

2. recreation — She counted recreation as part of the treatment.
3. provide a gymnasium — Provide combines with a service, a place, or evidence.
4. organism — He described the body as a system sending signals.
5. a facilitation, not a luxury — She treated kindness as practical support.

CH080 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: The Second Attempt

1. one indoor session a week — They asked for a minimal, repeatable session.
2. interruption — She reframed hospitality as a welcome interruption.
3. treat rest as part of the exercise — Rest became a component of training, not its opposite.
4. mind — The coach distinguished welcome interruption from noise.
5. an event with a date — He insisted on recording when an injury occurred.

CH081 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: Outside Pressure

1. a fast, tough piece of legislation — The hospital demanded mandatory injury reporting.
2. prevalence — The committee wanted the prevalence of disease recorded.
3. tolerate a fever — Tolerate combines with a fever, a delay, or a habit.
4. health — She separated visible strength from actual health.
5. because the pillar pushes back — Pressure from the clubs forced earlier legislation.

CH082 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: The Decision

1. a habit, not an empire — She refused to build a large institution.
2. acute — The athlete's stomach problem was acute, not chronic.
3. follow the body — Follow combines with a body, a rule, or a method.
4. up — He described the incline as a slower route, not a wall.
5. who would pay — The committee asked about funding the two hours.

CH083 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: Consequences

1. the mood, not the ingredient — He valued the setting over the shopping list.
2. deterioration — One player's worsening condition alarmed the club.
3. clean the stove — Clean combines with a stove, a room, or data.
4. toy — He warned against treating a nerve as something to play with.
5. what you give a body with no appetite — She reduced the debate to one concrete question.

CH084 · The Cost of Always Being Busy: The Bridge Forward

1. a castle of habits — He used the castle as an image of layered routine.
2. vulnerability — The older members' vulnerability was the awkward topic.
3. extinguish a rumour — Extinguish combines with a rumour, a fire, or a hope.
4. interfere — He separated motive from measurement.
5. a set of bridges — She replaced the castle image with bridges that each have a limit.

CH085 · What the System Remembers: A Signal

1. a file nobody had uploaded — An unrecognised file appeared in the public download.
2. omission — She argued that what is left out proves more than a logo.
3. take a reflection — Take combines with a reflection, a risk, or a decision.
4. omission — The missing consent mattered more than the branding.
5. its willingness to show the file first — He defined strength as early disclosure.

CH086 · What the System Remembers: The First Promise

1. a program with a reason — She tied each system to a stated justification.
2. indicator — An indicator shows a state; it does not control it.
3. monitor access — Monitor combines with access, a system, or a cost.

4. conscience — A scanner records without judging.
5. with deletion — He argued for collecting less before designing more.

CH087 · What the System Remembers: A Missing Voice

1. they never gave it for the storage of their data — The consent had never been given in the first place.
2. mechanism — The fault lay in the system's design, not its execution.
3. execute an instruction — Execute combines with an instruction, a plan, or a command.
4. consented — Consent requires comprehension.
5. compatible systems, telecommunications, and a mechanism for withdrawal — The request was technical and specific.

CH088 · What the System Remembers: Evidence on the Table

1. proof — She reframed privacy as a question of evidence.
2. clarification — The first fix was clarifying the purpose of collection.
3. justify an action — Justify combines with an action, a cost, or a claim.
4. maybe — Collection had to rest on a stated basis, not a possibility.
5. a service — He distinguished stored goods from actual service.

CH089 · What the System Remembers: The Trial Run

1. the difference between a percentage and a person — She measured the clause by its human effect.
2. precision — They preferred precision to flavour in the wording.
3. attach a clause — Attach combines with a clause, a condition, or a file.
4. precision — She wanted plain, exact language.
5. a millimetre of movement far away — He contrasted astronomical precision with office blindness.

CH090 · What the System Remembers: Pressure Builds

1. a gap in the data sequence — The wall diagram showed that one link in the approval data was missing.
2. remainder — Remainder means what is left after another part is removed or used.
3. privacy regulation — Regulation naturally combines with privacy, safety, or industry rules.
4. cross — Cross-check means verify information using another source.
5. to obtain independent approval — The team chose verification before speed.

CH091 · What the System Remembers: The Disagreement

1. the wait would become permanent — An open-ended extension would never end.
2. phenomenon — The cursor behaviour was a phenomenon they could not name.
3. restore the lamp — Restore combines with a lamp, a right, or a file.
4. cure — A signature alone does not fix the underlying problem.
5. nothing would be acquired without a written reason — They agreed on one non-negotiable rule.

CH092 · What the System Remembers: What the Numbers Hide

1. trust — Trust was the real product the numbers concealed.
2. defect — The patch itself carried a defect.
3. calibrate an instrument — Calibrate combines with an instrument, a sensor, or a scale.
4. signature — A digital flag is not informed consent.
5. asking the user what the light meant — The plain step was the one everyone skipped.

CH093 · What the System Remembers: A Better Question

1. does the system let a person leave as easily as join — She tested the system by its exit, not its entrance.
2. paradox — Zero cost in arithmetic, zero value in privacy.
3. cancel an account — Cancel combines with an account, a plan, or a meeting.
4. lazy — He defended simplicity as economy, not laziness.

5. stop adding fields — She argued for subtraction rather than invention.

CH094 · What the System Remembers: The Second Attempt

1. the whole activity stops — The design deliberately fails as a whole.
2. consistency — She distinguished consistency from mere repetition.
3. upgrade the voltage — Upgrade combines with voltage, a system, or a version.
4. nothing — An unchanged repeat carries no information.
5. the exit, but not the trust — They could build the mechanism, not the confidence.

CH095 · What the System Remembers: Outside Pressure

1. consent — The board wanted consent defined precisely.
2. compliance — Her reluctance was not about obeying the rules.
3. undertake a renovation — Undertake combines with a renovation, a task, or a risk.
4. transaction — A form is not the same as a concluded agreement.
5. a parallel record of what we refused to collect — He wanted the refusals documented too.

CH096 · What the System Remembers: The Decision

1. less, and add more only when the term is clear — They chose subtraction first.
2. justification — Every line needed a written reason beside it.
3. reduce a form — Reduce combines with a form, a cost, or a risk.
4. continuity — Enthusiasm is not the same as steady practice.
5. by the question a person asks — He organised the form around the user's question.

CH097 · What the System Remembers: Consequences

1. the extent of what the system kept — The system retained far more than intended.
2. contention — The fluctuations were the week's central dispute.
3. adjust the layout — Adjust combines with a layout, a plan, or a setting.
4. highlight — Damage is a risk, not a feature.
5. a difference is not a defect — They refused to treat variation as failure.

CH098 · What the System Remembers: The Bridge Forward

1. it fitted into a bucket — The scheme was deliberately tiny.
2. duration — The physical equipment would last about ten years.
3. assign a quota — Assign combines with a quota, a task, or a role.
4. query — Trust cannot be restored by a database command.
5. it will include the person after us — He tested inclusion by the next user, not the current one.

CH099 · The River Answers Back: A Signal

1. define it, not merely desire it — He wanted a stated threshold, not a wish.
2. aptitude — The district had a natural talent for holding water.
3. eliminate an error — Eliminate combines with an error, a risk, or a cost.
4. suspicion — A weak model produces doubt rather than prediction.
5. a third channel — The river had a route the district had abandoned.

CH100 · The River Answers Back: The First Promise

1. measure the river from both banks at once — The promise was simultaneous measurement.
2. insight — The accidental sampling error produced a real insight.
3. breed a habit — Breed combines with a habit, a variety, or a distrust.
4. weed — The ordinary weed, not the dramatic animal, was the problem.
5. five families on the bank — The readings would come from residents, not officials.

CH101 · The River Answers Back: A Missing Voice

1. five of the seven — Two families had been left out.
2. surplus — Plenty of data, but not the local kind.
3. quantify a scarcity — Quantify combines with a scarcity, a change, or a benefit.
4. hydrologist — She dismissed borrowed authority over the river.
5. activity and place together — He tied measurement to the people who live there.

CH102 · The River Answers Back: Evidence on the Table

1. moisture — He insisted on treating it as a physical question.
2. watertight — Watertight evidence is closed to doubt; waterproof alone is not.
3. take a reading — Take combines with a reading, a risk, or a decision.
4. watertight — He distinguished a closed argument from a resistant surface.
5. two of five, by almost four per cent — The measurable error was small but real.

CH103 · The River Answers Back: The Trial Run

1. the geology — He wanted physical evidence, not atmosphere.
2. practicable — The plan had to be doable in a wet summer.
3. reduce the surface flow — Reduce combines with a flow, a cost, or a risk.
4. event — He treated fairness as an ongoing process.
5. the airport and the sky above it — The model saw only the large, visible landmarks.

CH104 · The River Answers Back: Pressure Builds

1. can we keep the record going another period — The question was about continuity, not ambition.
2. bacteria — The wetland bacteria were indifferent to the budget.
3. draw the project down — Draw combines with a project, a conclusion, or a line.
4. laboratory — Improvised equipment is not an instrument of record.
5. the promise of an anniversary review — The period closed on a scheduled review.

CH105 · The River Answers Back: The Disagreement

1. the sea takes the delta — Hard engineering moves the loss downstream.
2. pollutant — They could measure a pollutant precisely.
3. reproduce a plan — Reproduce combines with a plan, a result, or an experiment.
4. ornament — She refused to treat ecology as decoration.
5. measure a pollutant but not agree on a horizon — Precision in measurement, deadlock in purpose.

CH106 · The River Answers Back: What the Numbers Hide

1. the water itself — The figures described everything except the river.
2. atmosphere — The mood at the station and the river's state diverged.
3. keep a record — Keep combines with a record, a promise, or a lock.
4. table — The local landscape was absent from the data table.
5. the whole page, including what the numbers hid — They chose full disclosure over a clean summary.

CH107 · The River Answers Back: A Better Question

1. the investment in the cement — The obstacle was financial, not hydrological.
2. abundance — She contrasted a frozen seed with real abundance.
3. freeze a seed — Freeze combines with a seed, a pipe, or a price.
4. wave — He described the river as responsive, not passive.
5. a different map, not a better pump — He wanted a better question rather than more force.

CH108 · The River Answers Back: The Second Attempt

1. one island of dry ground — The goal was small and specific.
2. resistance — The soil's resistance to water was the difficulty.

3. soak the soil — Soak combines with soil, a cloth, or a schedule.
4. up — The bank's capacity for damage was nearly exhausted.
5. a litre of salty water — The greenhouse distilled water overnight.

CH109 · The River Answers Back: Outside Pressure

1. to place an intermediary from the capital — The threat was administrative takeover.
2. deteriorate — A budget cut would make the data deteriorate.
3. tighten the rules — Tighten combines with rules, a budget, or a screw.
4. clothe — He compared rigid rules to clothing that cannot grow.
5. three years of published readings before any construction — Data came before concrete.

CH110 · The River Answers Back: The Decision

1. a metal lock on the canal and a forest kept for timber — Water control and woodland could not both be maximised.
2. pressing — The funding question could not be postponed.
3. finalize a plan — Finalize combines with a plan, a text, or a budget.
4. persuasive — The forestry numbers did not convince the chair.
5. the top of the file — They refused to write a conclusion before the data.

CH111 · The River Answers Back: Consequences

1. the water people drink after the flood — The illness followed the flood, not the water itself.
2. bias — The reporting had a structural bias.
3. transplant a kidney — Transplant combines with an organ, a practice, or a tree.
4. strategy — Good weather is not a plan.
5. a home-monitoring scheme with a re-measurement after each flood — The minority won a small, repeatable mechanism.

CH112 · The River Answers Back: The Bridge Forward

1. three — Three members, four directions.
2. compromise — The factories and the station reached a compromise.
3. consume the river — Consume combines with a resource, a product, or time.
4. drink — She described access to water as tenancy, not ownership.
5. ten years of data — They published the long record.

CH113 · Who Pays and Who Decides: A Signal

1. who pays for the water treatment plant — Funding, not politics, opened the arc.
2. feasible — A fare was the feasible answer.
3. collect a fee — Collect combines with a fee, a tax, or evidence.
4. theft — A rule without a collector is confiscation.
5. a register of every exemption — They published exemptions while debate continued.

CH114 · Who Pays and Who Decides: The First Promise

1. a jury with an audience — He framed the process as public judgement.
2. revenue — The revenue question was harder than taxation.
3. introduce a measure — Introduce combines with a measure, a scheme, or a guest.
4. nuisance — He conceded the claim but not the process complaint.
5. the transcript of the meeting — The record would be published verbatim.

CH115 · Who Pays and Who Decides: A Missing Voice

1. in a pub down the road from city hall — The congress met in a pub, not a chamber.
2. accumulation — Grievances accumulate into a revolution.
3. undermine a business — Undermine combines with a business, a claim, or trust.

4. deed — A design is not an action.
5. the passage of the money — She wanted the flow of funds made visible.

CH116 · Who Pays and Who Decides: Evidence on the Table

1. it was wholly irregular — The account was entirely out of order.
2. inevitable — The economist called the scandal structurally inevitable.
3. keep an account — Keep combines with an account, a promise, or a record.
4. lodging — The signatures on the lodging bills were the real story.
5. a convenient summary of a monstrous file — They wanted the huge file reduced to a summary.

CH117 · Who Pays and Who Decides: The Trial Run

1. the order of the questions — The sequence of decisions was the real issue.
2. liability — The liability question had to be answered.
3. assess a ward — Assess combines with a ward, a risk, or a cost.
4. confidence — Small deposits can inflate false confidence.
5. a flaw it can admit — She asked for honesty rather than perfection.

CH118 · Who Pays and Who Decides: Pressure Builds

1. a right, not a habit — Public money had to purchase entitlement, not routine.
2. utility — The water utility could not finance its own maintenance.
3. carry the maintenance — Carry combines with maintenance, a cost, or a risk.
4. democracy — He separated market choice from civic decision.
5. a second audit — The rate hold required another audit.

CH119 · Who Pays and Who Decides: The Disagreement

1. the order in which the facts mattered — The dispute was about priority, not accuracy.
2. deception — An alleged deception sat at the heart of the deed.
3. conceal a fact — Conceal combines with a fact, a cost, or a motive.
4. freedom — Market domination is not economic freedom.
5. who pays for the drainage — He moved the question from myth to cost.

CH120 · Who Pays and Who Decides: What the Numbers Hide

1. a square peg — The figure did not fit its own frame.
2. inference — The conclusion was an inference from symmetrical data.
3. oversee a process — Oversee combines with a process, a budget, or a trial.
4. morality — Punishment is not the same as a moral policy.
5. a diplomacy of delays — Departmental conflict produced procedural delay.

CH121 · Who Pays and Who Decides: A Better Question

1. who is entitled to the water — She replaced a quantity question with a rights question.
2. contradiction — The old system was both conclusive and wasteful.
3. verify a meter — Verify combines with a meter, a claim, or a figure.
4. budget — Durability matters more than total spend.
5. there is a lie — Concealment breeds falsehood.

CH122 · Who Pays and Who Decides: The Second Attempt

1. win a majority and keep the profit in the city — The second scheme aimed at both votes and local benefit.
2. deprive — The poorest ward was deprived of a voice.
3. confine an investigation — Confine combines with an investigation, a cost, or a scope.
4. conviction — Suspicion is not proof.
5. the light, the oil, and the main pipe — The figures were collected but never compared.

CH123 · Who Pays and Who Decides: Outside Pressure

1. a lawful title — A vote does not confer ownership.
2. bribery — The deposit raised a charge of bribery.
3. build a plant — Build combines with a plant, a case, or trust.
4. advertisement — Publicity cannot make an offence lawful.
5. thirty days — The advisory opinion set a thirty-day deadline.

CH124 · Who Pays and Who Decides: The Decision

1. to occupy the ground and halt the sale — She wanted stewardship rather than sale.
2. supposition — A reformist measure beat a supposition.
3. halt a sale — Halt combines with a sale, a scheme, or a decline.
4. endanger — A small shop does not threaten the water supply.
5. seven to five — The decision was narrow but clear.

CH125 · Who Pays and Who Decides: Consequences

1. political, not administrative — The dispute was political, not procedural.
2. prohibition — The prohibition's teeth were financial.
3. enforce a rule — Enforce combines with a rule, a ban, or a payment.
4. question — Both ideologies wanted a compact answer.
5. ours to invade — He rejected treating the wilderness as territory.

CH126 · Who Pays and Who Decides: The Bridge Forward

1. a correct figure nobody can see — Unseen accuracy is not accountability.
2. adequate — The brief was adequate and brief.
3. detect an error — Detect combines with an error, a fault, or a bias.
4. survive — A real account survives a contested line.
5. a boring one — She preferred durability to drama.

CH127 · A Choice That Has a Cost: A Signal

1. in a museum of urban history — The final arc opened in a museum.
2. dilemma — The career choice was a real dilemma.
3. fake perseverance — Process can be imitated; perseverance cannot be faked.
4. sample — Permissiveness and corruption distort a reading equally.
5. integrity — He separated status from honesty.

CH128 · A Choice That Has a Cost: The First Promise

1. one chapter of the group's history — Each graduate published one chapter.
2. sacrifice — The sacrifice was stylistic, not financial.
3. hand over a record — Hand over combines with a record, a key, or a duty.
4. lie — A dead archive still makes a false claim.
5. the sacrifice of the pretty sentence — Clarity required giving up fine writing.

CH129 · A Choice That Has a Cost: A Missing Voice

1. the age of the people who would live under the roof — The plan ignored who would actually live there.
2. equality — Equality was measured in decades of payment.
3. repay a mortgage — Repay combines with a mortgage, a loan, or a kindness.
4. lifetime — A house is both an asset and a lifetime.
5. every unit sold with a heating assessment — One clause attached a physical fact to the sale.

CH130 · A Choice That Has a Cost: Evidence on the Table

1. because the news could not wait — The timing was forced by external news.

2. defective — The pearl was defective and so was the record.
3. seize a moment — Seize combines with a moment, an opportunity, or evidence.
4. checked — Each page would carry its checker's name.
5. a flattering one — Generosity in reporting is not flattery.

CH131 · A Choice That Has a Cost: The Trial Run

1. test two rooms and let the results occur — They chose a limited trial over a prediction.
2. sensitivity — The instrument's sensitivity mattered more than expectation.
3. underestimate the winter — Underestimate combines with a season, a cost, or a rival.
4. criterion — Happiness cannot be used as a design criterion.
5. to be awake to the difference between belief and proof — They committed to separating belief from evidence.

CH132 · A Choice That Has a Cost: Pressure Builds

1. a fixed habit — A stable practice beats a stable price.
2. burden — Nobody wanted to carry the burden of withdrawal.
3. inflate an estimate — Inflate combines with an estimate, a price, or a claim.
4. choice — An unoffered option is only an imitation of choice.
5. the withdrawal of the second audit — The audit was pulled back.

CH133 · A Choice That Has a Cost: The Disagreement

1. the client — The architect answers to the client.
2. accountable — Accountability was the real subject of the dispute.
3. take a risk — Take combines with a risk, a chance, or a decision.
4. cowardly — Fear of cowardice drove the riskier choice.
5. sign the report together with both figures on one page — They published both the strong and weak claims.

CH134 · A Choice That Has a Cost: What the Numbers Hide

1. one good month — The whole gain came from a single month.
2. dependable — A dependable figure beats a reflective one.
3. make a dent — Make combines with a dent, a choice, or a mistake.
4. systematic — Encouragement is not systematic checking.
5. the desertion figures alongside the growth figures — They published losses beside gains.

CH135 · A Choice That Has a Cost: A Better Question

1. a veto on the future — An unrevised ruling binds those who come after.
2. veto — The rule functioned as a veto.
3. make a decision — Make combines with a decision, a choice, or a mistake.
4. living — He redirected attention from the past to the present.
5. who should be able to revise the decision — She reframed the problem around revisability.

CH136 · A Choice That Has a Cost: The Second Attempt

1. life rather than money — The handover question was about meaning.
2. conscience — Only a reader with a conscience would notice the corruption.
3. appoint a successor — Appoint combines with a successor, a committee, or a date.
4. character — Emotion is not the same as character.
5. a psychological knot — Accountability without authority creates anxiety.

CH137 · A Choice That Has a Cost: Outside Pressure

1. print the whole archive or the contract would cease — The publisher set a binary condition.
2. miraculous — A miraculous figure is often a defective one.
3. cease production — Cease combines with production, a practice, or an argument.

4. when — The verb locates the action in time.
5. it would carry everything — They promised a complete next edition.